

Presidential Candidate Chance Trahan calls out 40th Governor of California Gavin Newsom Over Neglect

Nonpartisan Presidential Candidate Tells Gavin Newsom To Pave The Roads Of Pomona California

POMONA, Calif. - March 16, 2020 - PRLog -- Driving the roads of Southern California has your favorite 2020 Presidential Candidate, Chance Trahan, on a political rampage.

"I'm absolutely tired of having to dodge potholes the size of Antarctica when I drive through the Pomona area, much less on the California State freeways! You should see the conditions of these roads, their quality is extremely lackluster and should have never reached this low of a level of drivability," says Chance.

With Mr. Trahan for President hitting the streets of Southern California, he's found many people who see the things going on recently exactly as he does. In fact, he says that he finds it more challenging to find people who actually disagree with him.

"I know I'm not the only one who's this upset that our taxes and State-level funding is being grossly misappropriated because everyone I talk to about the roads agrees, however they just don't understand how our funds are being misused, so when I point out those responsible and why the roads are in the unsavory conditions they're in today, the people start to wonder where the funds are actually going and they're not too happy about the fact that they're being taken advantage of," Chance mentions

Agreeing with Chance Trahan is pretty easy to do. He's so straightforward, he doesn't fluff his point, and he's not willing to see things any other way than what is actually factual.

"People agree, and it's not just a person here and there, it's everyone I talk to. I'm not even trying to brag about my agreeability, I am only saying that I want what everyone else wants, and that's for our government to work for us, and not against us – as they seem to keep doing time and again. I'm sick of this, and everyone else is too. We can't take anymore of this neglect and all I see these greedy politicians doing is making it seem like they're hard-at-work, when they couldn't care less about these unsanitary tent-cities popping up in downtown areas everywhere across the Unites States, much less the road conditions we're forced to drive on. And now we're giving the government more time to drag their feet with this lockdown over the flu? Imagine if we locked-down each time the flu went around, that's ridiculous. This whole thing is ridiculous," Chance concludes.

In a recent Tweet posted by the Chance Campaign, Chance Trahan calls out Gavin Newsom yet again over his gross neglect of his required and sworn-by political duties.
